We publish in another column the new platform. It is the one put forward by the organ of the self-styled American party at Washington and it is said, by telegraphic reports, to have been adopted at Philadelphia. The editor of the Journal is delighted with it. It is all that the South desires-a great improvement on the twelfth plank. The Southern members at Philadelphia have made a desperate struggle against it, but the editor of the Journal is more than satisfied. This is easily accounted for. The editor is an Abolitionist, and is delighted with anything that suit them. It will be seen that the sixth section means nothing, and that the seventh, if it means anything at all in reference to slavery, is the doc trine of squatter sovereignty, egainst which the editor has been raving for some time. The people of the Territories are to frame their own Constitu tion and Law, and to regulate their domestic and Bosial off airs in their own mode. One would sup pose, if the section meant anything, it meant allow the residents in the Territory to settle the question of slavery for themselves, in regulatin their domestic affairs. This is squatter sovereign ty, and this is the most horrible doctrine for the South that ever was published, according to the editor of the Journal.

But the fact is, the section means nothing at a on the subject of slavery, and the Abolition Know Nothings know it means nothing on that subject the Southern men in the Convention see it mean nothing, or they would not denounce and vo against it. Read the thirteenth section, and you will see that one of the crimes of the present Ad ministration, for which the brethren are fiercely opposed to it, is that it has repealed the Missour compromise act. By that act Congress prohibited slavery in Kansas and Nebraska. It was an of stacle in the way of the people making their own Constitution and laws, and regulating their own affairs, as far as slavery is concerned; and the brethren are themselves opposed to the presen Administration for giving the people of the Territory their rights, by repealing the Missouri com promise act. If anything about slavery is mean in the seventh section, it is stultified by the thir teenth. The brethren North will restore the Mis souri line; it is fully implied, for its repeal is de nounced.

Read, furthermore, the last section. They ar to eschew all sectional questions. Procisely so the sectional question is that of slavery, and the brethren are to eschew it in their party action. If the seventh section means anything about slavery it is to be eschewed.

The platform is a juggle-a cunningly devised cheat. The Abolition Know-Nothings go hom and tell their constituents-"You see we have denounced the repeal of the Missouri compromisand we will restore it. We agree that the people of the Territory shall make their own laws, an regulate their own domestic affairs, but we mea nothing about slavery in that resolution, for that is a sectional question, which, by a distinct resolution, is eschewed." Honest Southern men at Philadelphia see how it is. They see that their Northern allies have freed themselves from all obligations to them on the slavery question by

The twelfth plank was a very different affair. It bound the brethren to stand by past legislation clared that Congress ought not to legislate slavery all that stood upon that plank not to restore the Missouri compromise, nor to pass an anti-slavery proviso in reference to any Territory.

The reader will see that every obligation of the sort is swept away; that good Know-Nothings can now indulge their Abelition proclivities to any extent. The repeal of the twelfth plank is significant to all men of sense. There is no longer any restraint upon the brethren in Congress on this subject. The Banks Know-Nothings are now as sound in the faith, according to the platform, as any of the brethren.

We are not surprised that the editor of the Journal is pleased with the platform at Philadelphia. It suits him, as well as the rest of the Abolitionists. No creed on the slavery question-so that the majority may do as they please, is his doctrine. He knows what they will do. This Congress is the fruit of just such juggling on that

The lady with the rel face is so mulfled up that she suffers less than the others; but she is determined to be as home as soon as possible. The newsboys are so cold that the newspapers themselves are almost frozen. That man's nose is in great danger; his whiskers are covered with frost. After all the ravings of the editor of the Journal about squatter sovereignty, he came out yesterday morning in a laudistion of it, as contained in the new platform. The seventh section refers to slavery, by the editor's own interpretation; and if it does, it is that horrid squatter sovereignty itself in all its deformity. What will his readers say now? Another somersault right in their faces in a single day. They see nothing but his heel and coat-tails, and over he is. Look out now for a whirl about on Catholicism. The Twelfth Section Expunged Dissatisfaction of the South.

THREATENED DISSOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL. PHILADELPIA, Feb. 20-P. M. The Grand Council met this morning, at 10 o'clock, the President, E. B. Bartlett, of Kentucky, in the chair. After the calling of the roll.

Mr. Reynolds, of New York, moved for an open ich was laid over. Mr. Burr, of New York, moved that a Committee of one from each State be appointed to prepare business for the Council. Mr. Brewster, of Massachusetts, proposed the ollowing as a substitute:
"Whereas, the twelfth section of the National

Platform, adopted in June last, was neither pro-posed by the South, nor sanctioned by the North; erefore be it "Resolved, That the said section is hereby stricken from the platform."

The Chair stated the question before the Coun-agreed to an amendment, which would be presented by Mr. Ely, as follows: That on the subject of slavery, we are guided by the principles and prosions of the Constitution, yielding no more and aiming no less.

He chuked every man who stood on this floor for the arpose of raising any electional question. Such man had no business in the Council or the Orer. He thought no person who was engaged in unning off niggers from their masters should have aything to do with this Order.

Mr. Ford—I think that the business which the ntleman accuses us of being engaged in is much tter than that which he will do when he gets insubordination among the negroes, and arranging the plans for a passage on the underground railroad. When these Abolitionists come here they are slavery had always been considered sectional this country. [Cries of "never"—"never"].

their members. He thought the twelfth section was absurd and impertinent, and that no Northern man could stand upon it. No Northern State could tand upon it. He was in favor of striking it out, and adopting the constitution of the United States is the platform of the party, to stand upon its rinciples and provisions. If we cannot agree up-n this, our case is hopeless. He only desired that he South would stand simply on the constitution, hen each State could interpret it according to its own ideas. Mr. Ely would be glad to see the vhole platform stricken out, and the party standng on the Bible and the Constitution—the Bible which is anti-Roman Catholic, and the Constitu ion, which is national. Mr. Burr, of New York, renewed his motion made this morning, for a committee of one from each State to arrange business for the Council. Mr. Burr then made a speech in favor of squatter sovereignty and opposed to the agitation of the slavery question. So he was instructed by one of he strongest Freesoil districts in the State of New York. He thought the Northern States were in favor of leaving the slavery question as it was. The issue of the last Presidential election proved this fact. Then a nincompoop named Pierce was elected upon his platform over the horo of a hundred battles, because the people of the North were afraid that the Scott platform was not an

For New York, Mr. Barrigaored the idea that Ohio, or Massachusetts, or Connecticut, was the North, or that their ideas were those of the North. He thought the nigger were those of the Morta. He thought the higger worshippers ought to relieve their poor white brothers in New York.

Mr. Saunders, of New York, said that the State of New York had repudiated the twelfth section. [Applause]. He then read a resolution opposing the extension of slavery, as adopted by the last New York State Council. Mr. Saunders offered a resolution resignifing the platform en-

Several voices—"Good!" "Second the motion!" The chair-Order. Some confusion ensued, when a Louisiana deleate advised his brothers to go kome.

Mr. Call, of Florida, got the floor to make a speech about niggers generally, but had to give way on account of the confusion, which was great. Mr. Call said he should think any Southern man might be satisfied with the constitution. A Southern delegate-Will the North agree to and by the existing laws on the subject of slavery? [Many voices—"What's the question?" "No, o," from the North].

Mr. Call continued to speak in a conciliatory strain for a few moments longer, and closed by moving an adjournment. A motion to adjourn sine die was lost. Mr. Wood, of California, got the floor, and then, at eight o'clock, the Counci adjourned to meet to morrow at ten.

The Southern men are very indignant. None of them spoke on the question before the vote was taken, being cut off by the previous question. The final vote will be taken to-morrow morning, but of course it will be the same as that of to-day. The Southern men say that the party is dissolved and that they will not go back to the Council The ultra Northern men voted for the Ely claus under protest. They will make an effort to-mor-row to divide the question, and simply expunge the twelfth section. If the South stays in, Ohio westigated.

Mr. Brewster then got the floor, and said he rreed to an amendment, which would be presentily by Mr. Ely, as follows: That on the subject of when the final vote is taken.

RIVER AND WEATERS.

Breaking Up of the Ice .- The river yesterday mor ng was gorged with heavy ice opposite the wharf. The iver had fallen about a foot since Sunday night, and tinued to fall slowly last evening, and the ice be ng thinner, having evidently come from a gorge above By the dispatches we learn that, notwithstanding the in mense losses at Cibeinnati by the breaking up of the iver, it was only the harbor ice that had given way there being heavy gorges above and below the city.

The Florida has gotten off, and is in a safe harbor at he foot of Diamond Island.

At Evansville the ice had given way, and the Twitch ell had left for New Orleans. At our own landing the stern of the new steamer Om na is resting on the wharf, and her bow is in the wate Her starboard wheelhouse and wheel were damaged by the ice, but otherwise she is not injured. She lie straight and her bow is surrounded with heavy ice.

The Queen of the West lies with her stern post knock ed out on the rocks at the head of the canal. She is h ing straight with the current, the ice gorged to the sho from her. Dick Smith is building a bulk head in her ran It is thought she can be saved by getting her freight ou She was secured this morning by lines to the wharf.

The two ferry boats are in a bad condition. The new one seems to be a perfect wreck. They are lying broadside in the Kentucky chute, and there is little chance of saving either of them. The James Guthrie is hard aground at the foot of Fourth street, but has sustained, thus far, no damage. The Telegraph No. 3 is in safe harbor at the head of he canal, and the Black Hawk is lying above her. The Hungarian, with a barge, is lying at the foot fifth street in an exposed position, and surrounded by heavy ice, but thus far sustained no damage.

The boats at Portland have sustained no damage The ice passes down the Indiana chute, and is genera broken in small parcels in going over the falls. We are indebted to Capt. I. S. Moorhead, and also th Mail Company for the following dispatches:

The London Times says: we expect to hear every day that our Minister at Washington has received his passport and is on his way home. That of course will compel similar proceedings on our part with regard to the American Minister. Mr. Crampton and Buchanan, the two inoffensive gentlemen, representing their respective Govern-nents at Washington and London, will probably oss each other on the Atlantic."

After deploring the existence of a domestic uarrel, of which the Times says England has ally apologized enough to satisfy ten European empires, that paper goes on to say we cannot hold Engiand responsible for the estrangement, and Americans may recken on an obstinate resistance if they drive us to it. Let them count the cost before they take the fatal steps. After two of three paces, they will make calculations in vain [From the London Dispatch.]

A good deal of pardonable irritation was felt here that the sympathies of a Republican people should have been so unaccountably manifested du-ring the present war in behalf of the great main-stay and sheet anchor of European despitism, and if the people of the United States permit their rulers to plunge them into war with Great Britain they will receive the most terrible lesson ever ad inistered to national envy and quarrelsomenes. The Journal des Debats has a long and labore ditorial to prove that up to the present point th interests of France and England are identical; but that the continuance of the war either on the Bal-tic or in Asia would only subserve the private into or in Assa Lagland.
